

Ike, Adlai Wind Up Campaign Tonight

Democrats Fire New Blasts at Foreign Policy

Expect 60 Million To Vote Tuesday; Eisenhower Favored

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democrats fired new blasts at Eisenhower foreign policy today in eleventh-hour campaign speeches citing the bloody events in Hungary and the Middle East.

Indications were that they will need all the last-minute vote switches they can swing, and probably more. They blamed administration "fumbling" and "negligence" for the strife overseas.

President Eisenhower and his Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson, along with their run-

SALINE COUNTY TO VOTE IN 34 PRECINCTS

Voting in Saline county's 34 precincts will begin at 6 a. m. tomorrow and balloting will continue until 5 p. m.

Besides national, state, district and county races, voters will ballot here on continuation of the tuberculosis care program in Saline county, and will vote on revision of the Illinois Banking act and on an amendment of a state revenue article.

ning mates, will wind up the 1956 campaign officially with television appearances tonight.

The President and Vice President Richard M. Nixon held a political huddle at the White House while Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, were still out on the stump.

Charges Administration Fumbled

In a special election day forecast the Weather Bureau said most of the nation will enjoy fair weather for Tuesday's balloting. But scattered rains were forecast for the central part of the country from the upper Mississippi Valley to the western Gulf states and along parts of the north Pacific coast.

Stevenson asserted that administration "fumbling" delayed the "efforts of other nations to help the people of Hungary in the United Nations." He also charged that "presidential negligence on question of peace and war may plunge the whole world into the horror of hydrogen war."

Kefauver said Sunday night that the "totally incompetent administration foreign policy contributed to the outbreak of war in the Middle East."

About 60 million Americans will visit their neighborhood polling places Tuesday to vote for president, members of Congress and thousands of state and local officials. The weather bureau forecast is generally fair weather except for the Great Lakes region and for an area extending from the Dakotas to Texas.

If pre-election polls and surveys are even close to the mark, Mr. Eisenhower will be reelected by a comfortable majority of popular and electoral votes. But his Republican Party is still rated the underdog in its battle to regain control of Congress.

The still-hopeful Democrats are banking on "another 1948," a repeat of the election when President Truman's victory confounded the poll-takers and most of the other political experts.

The campaign began with debate on pocketbook issues. It ended with a slugging match over the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration against the backdrop of revolution and war in Soviet satellites and the Middle East.

Mr. Eisenhower, who had cancelled two of his final campaign swings, was spending today at the White House, devoting most of his attention to those foreign trouble spots. He was expected to take time out, however, to receive a final report on the GOP campaign from Nixon, who returned to Washington Sunday.

Illinois Candidates Express Confidence on Eve of Election

By United Press
Illinois candidates today prepared to rest their lives and await a verdict as the lively 1956 campaign came to a close.

Gov. William G. Stratton and his Democratic opponent, Richard B. Austin, both took to television over the weekend for last-minute vote getting efforts.

Stratton returned from Chicago to Springfield for a local TV appearance in which he answered a series of questions which he said had been frequently asked in the campaign. The answers outlined his major campaign points.

The governor belittled Austin as the "choice" of Chicago city hall, which "picks its own candidates and operates and manipulates them as though they were mere puppets."

Austin answered questions for newsmen on a Chicago TV program, in which he rejected Stratton's charges.

"No one ever ran for office in this state as free of commitments as Dick Austin," he said.

Austin said that from what he had seen in campaigning about the state he expected to defeat Stratton by 300,000 votes.

Stratton was equally confident of victory. In his TV appearance he continued hitting at "the low state" of Illinois government when he succeeded Adlai E. Stevenson as governor. He charged the "moral climate" of the government at that time was at a low ebb.

Democrat Richard Stengel, also campaigning in a pre-election TV appearance at Chicago, said he expected to win by a "very healthy majority."

Stengel, candidate for the U. S. Senate, laid a good part of the blame for the Middle East fighting to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Dulles forced Egyptian President Abdel Nasser's hand to seize the Suez Canal when the secretary withdrew the American offer to aid in the construction of the Aswan Dam, Stengel charged.

No matter who is elected president, Stengel said, "he should not have the handicap of Dirksenism imposed upon him," referring to GOP Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, his opponent.

Dirksen, meanwhile, attended a congressional district meeting at Chicago, urging his own re-election along with that of President Eisenhower.

Ernie Dagley, 69, Former Resident, Dies in Indiana

Ernie Dagley, 69, a former resident of Harrisburg, died at Newcastle, Ind., last Friday and his funeral was held there today. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dagley and several years ago he and his brother, Wayne, operated a Willys-Knight dealership in this city on East Locust street.

His first wife was a sister of Mrs. John Poulos, and their children, Ernie Jr., Freda, Vivian Rose and Rita, were born in Harrisburg. They and his second wife, Elizabeth Dagley, a stepson, and his two brothers, Wayne Dagley, Munster, Ind., and Fred Dagley, Maunie, survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Porter, Harrisburg, brother-in-law and sister-in-law of Mr. Dagley went to Newcastle Sunday because of his death, returning to this city late Sunday night.

Burial was at Newcastle.

Stevenson Now A Grandfather

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson became a grandfather Sunday and accordingly changed his campaign plans.

Stevenson said his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nancy Stevenson—wife of his eldest son, Adlai Jr., gave birth to a 9 lb., 7 oz. boy at Lying-In Hospital, Boston Sunday.

The Democratic presidential candidate had planned to deliver a "get-out-the-vote" telecast from Chicago tonight. But he said he would fly from Minneapolis to Boston today to see his grandson, and make his telecast from the Massachusetts city.

Five Freight Cars Derailed Near Stonefort

Five cars of a 25-car New York Central Freight train travelling northward were derailed a mile and a half south of Stonefort about 10 a. m. Saturday.

H. M. "SI" Jones, NYC yardmaster here, said the cause of the derailment was not yet determined. Nobody was injured by the incident but two cars probably were destroyed, he stated.

Four freight cars of phosphate and one oil car left the rails, he said.

Workmen began the big task of clearing up the wreckage at 3 a. m. Sunday and at 6 a. m. today the track was cleared for traffic. Three cars still remained off the track this morning and must be moved. A big wrecker and about 30 men were on the job, being directed by Link David, track supervisor.

Present during the operations was the trainmaster, A. F. Smith of Mt. Carmel.

The operations yesterday attracted a large number of spectators who saw the wreckage while driving on Route 45.

John P. Moore of Muddy, Blacksmith For 47 Years, Dies

John P. Moore, 74, resident of the village of Muddy and a blacksmith by trade, died this home Saturday at 11:33 a. m. following a paralytic stroke.

Mr. Moore had been a blacksmith for 47 years and only recently sold his business.

He leaves his wife, Aola, and the following children: Bert and Ray Moore, both of San Francisco, Calif.; Bernard Moore, Columbus, O.; Miss Frances Moore Painesville, O.; a stendaughter, Mrs. Jewel Calvert, Harrisburg; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild, and a brother, Clarence Moore of Lincoln.

The body lies in state at the Bean and Tanner funeral home in Eldorado where the funeral will be held Tuesday at 1 p. m. Rev. W. A. Summers will officiate and burial will be in the Colbert cemetery.

Extinguish Blaze

A rubbish fire at 1421 South Washington was extinguished by the fire department at 1:45 p. m. Sunday.

Paratroops in Egypt; Cease Fire at Port Said; Iron Rule in Hungary

Refugee Says Fighting Still On in Budapest

Hungarian Army Gives Arms To Populace

VIENNA (UP)—Soviet troops clamped an iron rule on Hungary today. But reports reaching here said Russian forces still were trying to wipe out pockets of resistance in Budapest.

Vienna newspapers said fighting still was going on in the embattled city. A refugee reaching here said the entire nation was aflame with a "mass wave of patriotism."

The Soviets themselves indicated some resistance continued when the Red Army commanders broadcast an appeal to Hungarian troops to desert to the Russians.

The Soviets imposed a curfew on Budapest and demanded that rebels lay down their arms by 6 p. m. or face a Soviet court martial.

A Hungarian refugee told Western officials in Vienna the army instead had given guns and ammunition to rebel men, women and children.

Last-Ditch Battle

He said a last ditch battle raged in Budapest late Sunday in the Buda district on the right bank of the Danube River. The refugee was interviewed by Western officials when he reached safety in Austria this morning. His name was withheld to protect relatives still in Budapest.

He said houses were being barricaded and converted into individual fortresses and the Hungarian army was passing out rifles, tommyguns, mortars and hand grenades.

The Russians installed Janos Kadar, faithful follower of the Moscow party line, as premier. He replaced Imre Nagy who attempted to organize a coalition government. Nagy and most of his cabinet are prisoners of the Russians.

The last message from the U. S. legation in Budapest said Jozef Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, had taken refuge there.

Appeal for Action

Hungarian refugees who reached Vienna appealed to the world to act swiftly before the Soviets can wreak vengeance on the rebels. There were reports the Russians already had begun rounding up the male population and herding the men to railroad stations.

The Soviets struck in the early morning hours Sunday while members of the Nagy cabinet were negotiating the "withdrawal" of the Red armies in belief the 12-day old revolt against Communist rule had been successful.

Convoy of 27 Americans Reaches Vienna After Red Army Threats in Hungary

VIENNA (UP)—A convoy of 27 Americans, including 11 children, reached safety here today after two nights in Russian captivity on their flight from Budapest.

The refugees, mostly wives and children of U. S. legation officials in the Hungarian capital, told of being threatened by Red Army tommy-guns and being forced to turn back from the border twice despite their diplomatic status.

All arrived here safely. The convoy of six cars crossed the Austro-Hungarian border at noon (5 a. m. CST) and brought the party immediately to a Vienna hotel.

The group was headed by Robert A. Clark of Portland, Ore., and Winterhaven, Fla., an official of the Budapest legation. There were 21 legation personnel and dependents and 6 other Americans in the party, including Edgar Clark, Time magazine correspondent in Belgrade, Mrs. Katherine Clark, International News Service correspondent, and Frank Donghi of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Clark said the convoy left Budapest at 12:45 p. m. Friday but only got as far as a roadblock between Magyarovar and Hegyeshalom. There they were turned back to Budapest by Soviet tanks.

"In Budapest, the legation protested to Soviet Ambassador J. A. Andropov who promised to settle the matter," Clark related.

Permission for the release of the refugees suddenly came thru this morning and the convoy started again for Vienna. A Russian armored car escorted the party as far as the border.

UN Rushes Organization of Police Force for Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—The United Nations rushed today organization of an international police force for the Middle East.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold called in representatives of the smaller countries to discuss plans for the international force to which Canada, New Zealand, Colombia and Norway already had pledged troops.

The General Assembly, by a 57-0 vote with 19 abstentions, early today approved the projected force in a resolution proposed by Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson. Under plans drawn up by Hammarskjold, troops from the Big Five powers would be excluded from the police force whose purpose is to "secure and supervise the cessation of hostilities" in Egypt.

Sunday night, Pearson also suggested to the assembly that a similar police force might be usefully employed in Hungary.

Approve U. S. Resolution

He told the assembly Britain and France were ready to hand over a policing role to the U. N. in the Suez Canal Zone.

"Will the Soviet Union give us the same promise with respect to the military operations now going on in Hungary?" Pearson asked.

The assembly's emergency session, by a 50-8 vote with 15 abstentions, approved a United States resolution calling on Russia to end its attack against Hungary and withdraw its forces from the country.

The measure asked Hammarskjold to appoint an investigating commission for a fact-finding mission to the country and appealed to the Soviet Union and its new puppet Hungarian government to

Discuss Terms Of Surrender, Eden Announces

Huge Armada is Poised at Sea For Mass Attack

LONDON (UP)—Britain and France invaded Egypt with paratroops today and by nightfall the British said the commander of Port Said was discussing surrender terms.

The blitz assault from the skies flamed briefly into tough fighting at Port Said, sole object of the initial Anglo-French attack, and suddenly ended, the British said, with a cease fire ordered.

Sir Anthony Eden made the dramatic announcement in Commons of what could mean a quick victory at Port Said.

"I have had a flash signal from the commander in chief in the eastern Mediterranean," Eden said.

"It says: 'Governor and military commander Port Said now discussing surrender terms with (British commander) Brigadier Butler. Cease fire ordered.'"

There was no immediate word whether a cease fire might apply to all of Egypt. A great amphibious armada was poised in the sea north of the canal, prepared to launch a mass attack at any time.

Egypt had fought back bitterly at Port Said at the outset. Tanks, mortars and machineguns were used against the paratroops who dropped at dawn on Port Said. Cairo at first claimed one Anglo-French force had been annihilated at an airfield.

A second "large wave of French paratroops struck in mid-afternoon. A short time later came the announcement by the British prime minister.

Socialist opposition leader Hugh Gaitskell pressed the prime minister as to whether it was a local or general cease fire and whether military operations were underway elsewhere.

"I read out the signal as I received it," Eden said. "Clearly, I cannot know how wide or narrow is the area covered by the cease fire."

Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, the Anglo-French commander on Cyprus, previously had acknowledged "tough and heavy fighting." But he said one British force was firmly established at an airfield and that French forces held two bridges across the canal.

A great convoy of troopships and men of war, the largest naval armada in action in the Mediterranean since the Sicily landings of World War II, had sailed from Cyprus toward Egypt, 250 miles away.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser went to the front and watched the "progress of the heroic campaign at Port Said," Cairo Radio said. Nasser returned to the capital in the afternoon.

Keightley said casualties in the morning battle were not heavy. But even as he talked with correspondents in Nicosia, hospitals in England were alerted to make room for the Suez wounded.

Blow Up Pipeline

As the fighting intensified in Egypt, Arab nationalists blew up sections of the oil pipelines of the British-controlled Iraq Oil Co. Smoke rose 10,000 feet over the pipeline in the Syrian Desert. Britain charged that units of the Syrian army were responsible.

The border between Israel and Jordan was tense but quiet.

Curtain Call

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Oil and gas money flood Idaho to help Senator Welker; Ike disagrees with Dulles over economic aid to French and British.

WASHINGTON. — Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, sometimes called the "Junior Joe McCarthy," has filed a revealing list of campaign contributions with the clerk of the Senate. It shows that the big oil and gas companies have coughed up for his campaign just about as generously as they did for some of the pet projects of his colleague from Wisconsin. The list also shows a pattern of contributions from all over the U.S.A.

For instance, Joseph N. Pew of Philadelphia, head of the Sun Oil company (Blue Sunoco), sent a thousand dollars all the way to Idaho from Pennsylvania. So did his brother, J. Howard Pew, head of Sun Ship. So did his two sisters, Miss Ethel Pew and Mrs. Mabel Myrin. Total for the Pew family to the senator from Idaho: $4,000.

Mrs. Lamont du Pont of Wilmington also sent $500 all the way from Delaware to Idaho for Welker. Fanny R. Wuritzer of Wuritzer music boxes also listened to the appeal of Senator Welker and sent $100 all the way from Tona-wanda, N. Y. Alton Jones, head of Cities Service, was more generous. He sent $2,500. Eddie Rick-enbacker, head of Eastern Airlines, sent $100. Ruth McCormick Tankersley of the Chicago Tribune family sent $100. Victor Emanuel, head of the Giant American Aviation company, sent $250.

Other contributions from $100 up to $500 came from the following wide variety of oilmen, industrial-ists, and bankers:

Matthew Keck, relative of Howard Keck of Superior Oil; Bill Skelly, president of Skelly Oil, Tulsa, Okla.; John Olin of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., N. Y.; Robert Minkler, president of General Petroleum, Los Angeles; Richard Carmichael, Ray Oil Co., Dallas; Louis B. Mayer, MGM, Holly-wood; R. H. Kress of five and ten cent stores fortune; Frank Bel-grano of Trans America; E. R. Harriman of the Harriman invest-ment firm in N. Y.

One interesting contribution came from F. Joseph (Jiggs) Donohue, former commissioner of the Dis-trict of Columbia and campaign manager for Senator Kefauver. Donohue contributed $100. When queried about his contribution, Donohue's office explained that the stand D. C. Democratic leader had been at a social function with Senator Welker last spring, had accepted a dare and contributed $100 as a joke.

Biggest contributor to Welker is Whitelife P. Draper of New York City of $5,000. His attorney, when questioned, said he did not know why Mr. Draper had contributed. Mr. Draper was inaccessible.

Note: Welker is almost certain to be re-elected, probably doesn't need these contributions, thanks to the fact that ex-Sen. Glen Tay-lor, who lost out in the Demo-cratic primary, is staging a write-in campaign against Democratic candidate Frank Church. This Democratic split should send Wel-ker back to the Senate for another six years.

IKE MORE SYMPATHETIC

Secretary Dulles is so furious at the French and British that he has vowed not to lend them one nickel to buy American oil, in case Mid-dle East oilfields go up in flames. President Eisenhower, however, is not as indignant and has advised Dulles to tone down his bitter anti-British and French backstage com-ments and concentrate on what can be done to end the fighting.

The President has ruled out any idea of economic sanctions against British and French allies, so, ex-cept for an appeal to the United Nations Assembly there just isn't anything much we can do to stop hostilities.

BONDS FOR ISRAEL

A tip to Jewish groups all over the U.S.A.: Bonds for Israel drives should be consummated immedi-ately because chances are almost certain that the administration will freeze all funds to Israel shortly after elections.

Regard Ulcer as Badge of Success, Scientist Advises

CHICAGO (U) — An ulcer should be regarded as the badge of success, a scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Heinrich Necheles, di-rector of the Michael Reese Medical Center's gastro-intes-tinal department, told a group of businessmen that ulcers are nothing to be ashamed of.

"I would rather not have an ulcer and be successful," Necheles admitted. "If I had one," he added, "I would not be ashamed of it, cause in my opinion it would be like a kind of medal for dis-tinguished services and would indicate that in some ways my drives and my energy were above average."

HIS SOLE HOBBY—What does a shoemaker do in his spare time? Joseph Galluze, of Pittsburgh, Pa., makes shoes. He fashions miniatures, like those above, from one to three inches long, covering every style found in normal use from pumps to work shoes. So far, Galluze has accumulated more than 50, each made from calf leather and each requiring three to four hours of tedious work.

24th District Fall Meeting of American Legion Auxiliary Held

The 24th District fall meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Kathleen Burgess, district director, Tuesday at 10 a. m.

The program was as follows: Registration, Elva Lea Volkert, Rosiclare; advance of flag, Helen Briggs, Bone Gap; pledge of allegiance; national anthem, Sibyl Whitley, organist, Harrisburg; invocation, Colleen Hale, Norris City; Preamble to the Constitution, members; greetings, Pearl E. Davis, unit president, Rosiclare; Otis M. Lamar, mayor, Rosiclare; introduction of state and district officers and guests; reading of minutes, Blythe Wallace, Rosiclare; treasurer's report; Talks, Margaret Robinson, fifth division president, East St. Louis; Sibyl Whitley, Harrisburg and Marvin McClure, Golconda, fifth division past presidents; rehabilitation, Earlene Brooks, Carmi; volunteer hospital service, Artis Tate, Harrisburg; roll call of units, district officers and chairman; retirement of colors.

Mrs. Ruth Rankin, president of the Harrisburg unit, was one of the outstanding presidents in that her unit has high percentage of paid members for 1957, sold candy and sponsored a street parade for Halloween.

The next meeting will be at Bone Gap, the date to be announced later.

The Paul C. Rowan Auxiliary served a delicious turkey luncheon and the tables were decorated with fall flowers and leaves. At each plate was a buckeye, a symbol of good luck.

Mrs. Ed Keneipp Hostess To Missionary Society

The Missionary society of the First Church of God met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ed Keneipp.

Mrs. Bess Aldridge, vice president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. E. C. Fisher offered prayer. Mrs. Ed Hibbs gave the devotion for the evening.

The business meeting began with Mrs. Muriel Holland reading the secretary-treasurer's report. Plans were completed for a visitation program by the group. A report was made concerning the number of chapters in the Bible each person read during the past month. Reports were given by various committees.

Mrs. Clifford Curtis gave the lesson for the evening "God, Mend Thine Every Flaw." The lesson ended with an impressive candle lighting service and with prayer by Mrs. Cecil Rhine.

The meeting was closed with all reciting "The Lord's Prayer."

Refreshments of dainty sandwiches, individual angel food cakes and spiced tea were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Aldridge.

Others present were Mrs. Aaron Dudley, Mrs. Luther Alexander, Mrs. Allie Pearce, Miss Beulah Lievers and Mrs. Charles White.

The December meeting will be at the home of Miss Lievers.

Mrs. Margaret Melton, Edward Mendenhall Wed

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs. Margaret Melton of Harrisburg and Edward Mendenhall of Rose Hill, Ill.

The wedding took place Saturday, Nov. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Partain in Harrisburg. Rev. Ernest Tison performed the ceremony.

Only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Partain and Mrs. Ethel Hyers.

The couple left following the wedding for a visit in Rose Hill. They will reside temporarily at 329 East McIlraith in Harrisburg but later will make their home in Rose Hill.

Naomi Class Meets With Mrs. Fanny Owen

The Naomi Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Fanny Owen for the regular class social.

The meeting opened with a song and a prayer. Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale, class president, presided over a short business meeting during which the minutes of the last meeting were read and roll call answered with a scripture verse.

Plans were made for a Thanksgiving dinner to be held at the home of Fern Waddell Nov. 15.

Mrs. Alta Norman gave the devotion followed by several talks by the members.

Mrs. Owen is one of the class' shut-in members and since it was her birthday she received a number of nice birthday gifts.

Mrs. Hattie Moyer served angel food cake with ice cream and soft drinks to the following: Gertrude Hayes, Blanche Shacklett, Alta Norman, Blanche Lauderdale, Louise Allen, Flo Bourland, Fern Waddell, Ruth Gates and Mrs. Owen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Poulos and three children are moving this week end from Harrisburg to Champaign, where he has been employed for some time as a welder.

To Speak at Meeting of Illinois Folklore Society

Philip D. Jordan

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Philip D. Jordan, University of Minnesota professor of history, will be the speaker for the annual fall meeting of the Illinois Folklore Society at Southern Illinois University Nov. 16. The organization will meet at 8 p. m. in the formal lounge of Woody Hall, new residence hall for women.

The SIU history department is cooperating with the Society in sponsoring Jordan's appearance. He will be the lecturer at a history-social science workshop for area teachers in the SIU library auditorium at 10 a. m. November 17. Both meetings will be open to all interested persons.

Jordan is a widely recognized historian and writer, according to Mrs. Edith Krappe, Carbondale, President of the Folklore Society. A native of Burlington, Iowa, and a graduate of Northwestern University, Jordan received his doctorate at the University of Iowa. He is the author of 10 books, two of which are scheduled for publication in 1957. He has contributed more than 250 articles appearing in various journals and is editor of six volumes of history published by the Mississippi Valley Press.

"These Are the People" will be the title for his address at the folklore Society meeting. The workshop lecture will be entitled, "Writing and Publishing Local History."

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hood have returned from Ormond Beach, Fla., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Alex Kish and children.

Cancer Society's Annual Conference November 8 and 9

A year of appraisal will be the theme of the annual conference of the American Cancer Society. More than 350 key leaders throughout the state will gather in Chicago on Nov. 8 and 9 for a ten year anniversary program.

Mrs. John C. Humm, chairman of the Saline county chapter, said that so far, three have indicated they will attend the conference to be held at the Conrad Hilton hotel. They are Mrs. James W. Gaskins, education chairman, Mrs. Morris Skaggs, lay delegate, and secretary-treasurer of the chapter, and Mrs. Humm.

A panel of doctors will open the meeting. This "cancer team" will be moderated by John A. Rogers, M. D., executive secretary of the division. Members of the panel will consist of a surgeon, a pathologist and a radiologist.

At the afternoon session another group of outstanding leaders in cancer control will address the volunteers.

Highlight of the Thursday dinner meeting will be an address by Chester Williams, who will speak on "New Challenges for Public Education." Mrs. Humm stated that the speaker, Williams, of New York, is serving as consultant in the review and appraisal survey of the American Cancer Society's public education program and its importance as well as some practical approaches to the problem of increasing the impact on the American public.

Following the luncheon of the Friday session new officers of the board of directors will be elected.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Gribble, who passed away 8 years ago today, Nov. 6, 1948.

It seems like a dream.
Eight years ago today
An angel of death
Took our loved one away.
Our home is broken
It is not the same.
Weeping in vain,
Death has the claim.
Upon a beautiful hillside
Not far away lies our loved one
In a house of Clay.
Until Jesus comes to claim his own.
Then we shall know as we are known.
Sadly missed by his wife and children and grandchildren. *110-1

DOWN DONGOLA WAY Clyde Schultman has been raising his radishes and turnips big, as can be determined from the above picture. At left is Robert Pavelonis of Harrisburg, holding a radish weighing seven pounds, two ounces, and at the right is his brother, George, with a turnip weighing eight and a half pounds. They were brought to Harrisburg by their grandfather, Milas Threet, who was working for the state division of highways in that area and Mr. Threet was doing some flagging for the workers. He told Mr. Threet about the big vegetables growing in his garden and Mr. Threet picked up a couple of samples to bring to Harrisburg. A short time later Saturday, Mrs. Bess Hale, who lives on West Lincoln, brought in two turnips, one weighing six and three-fourths pounds, the other about five and a half pounds, grown at her place. Today a turnip weighing four pounds, six ounces was brought in from the Frank Durfee farm on Rt. 4. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Dan Murdock, foreman of the Star ranch, rides to Bitter, Wyo., with his boss, Rancher Blaise Starrett. Although they have long been close friends, Blaise's ambition to control the valley is drawing them apart. In town, Dan collides with a pretty young woman.

"DAN MURDOCK," she accused in a throaty voice, "do you always run into people?" "Looks that way, Vivian." He smiled and took off his hat. Again he felt the impact of Vivian McLearn, a strange quality like a powerful magnet, something other men had felt, too. She was not tall, really, but she gave the impression, an effect of the slender, well-developed body that even the coarse, shapeless coat could not conceal. Her face was delicate, the cheeks long and planed, the short nose pert, the lips small but perfectly formed, the upper protruding slightly over the lower.

"In town for long, Dan?" She bent to brush the snow from her coat and her laugh was clear in the winter air.

"Until tomorrow, maybe." "It's good to see you. You're always in and out, Dan."

"Maybe after spring roundup I'll loaf a week."

"Spring." She said it as though she thoughtfully measured the spread of time. Then she smiled. "Good day, Dan."

Dan watched her go. He suddenly felt the impact of unseen eyes and his head lifted, startled. George Gorton stood in the door of the smithy. He filled the dark recess, his big bullet head thrust forward on his thick neck, solid arms akimbo, powerful hands on his hips. Broad shoulders and deep chest pulled at the cloth of his soiled shirt. He scowled at Dan, low forehead deeply creased, and his short, black hair bristled upward like a stiff, wire brush. His eyes cut away from Dan and followed Vivian.

He's in love with her, Dan thought. He had never before given the bear of a man credit for finer human emotions. Not that Dan blamed Gorton, for she was a striking, alluring woman. Dan honestly admitted that he might himself have taken a greater interest had it not been for Paula. No one knew where Vivian had come from, although there were rumors and whispers among the women, for gossip played a major role in the narrow life of the valley.

AT this moment, several miles to the south, nine riders pushed doggedly toward Bitter. They rode as a group, bunched, held not only by the narrow channel of the road through the world of deep snow, but also by a common effort and something of a common fear. This fear had steadily lessened, easing off in direct ratio to the miles they put between themselves and the Colorado border.

A giant of a man rode at the head of the loose cavalcade. Despite his size, his movements were quick and sure. Like the rest, a gun rode at his hip, clear of the mackinaw. His mount carried four thick pouches, two before and two behind the saddle. Now and then one of his companions would glance at the pouches and his eyes would light in swift pleasure, or he would lick his lips in anticipation.

One of the horsemen spoke and Jack Bruhn slightly turned his head, catching Tex Darrow's long and searching look. Bruhn straightened, his eyes casting far ahead, face impassive. But, he thought coldly, it's coming. It was in the cards before we hit that bank and now, with $50,000 in the pouches, Tex will bring it to a head. He wondered, without emotion, how he would handle it. He had no doubt that he would. Tex, maybe one or two others would die, but Jack Bruhn would still ramrod this outfit when the gunsmoke cleared away.

But Bruhn never crossed bridges until he reached the river. Right now he cast ahead for a place where they could hole up. The men rode with more ease now that the immediate pressure of pursuit was well behind them. He glanced back toward Shorty Ratner.

Shorty rode slouched in the saddle, twisted to favor the side that had taken the bullet. Just one lucky shot, Bruhn thought heavily, and a man's cards run out, his string breaks. None of them thought the wound too bad at first, but now Bruhn knew it was serious.

TEX had hinted that the wounded man was a threat to their escape. Bruhn had vetoed the idea of leaving Shorty, and he knew that he played into Darrow's hands by doing it. The way Tex argued made sense, but Bruhn could simply not force himself to give the final orders that would leave Shorty to face freezing or a hangnosed. It wasn't Bruhn's way, never had been.

A laugh sounded and Bruhn caught Denver's whiskery grin and saw the answering smile of the young strapping beside him. Bruhn faced front again, frowning, thinking of Gene Hiatt and wondering if he had been wise in taking on the kid.

Gene Hiatt thought much the same thing, only half listening to Denver Gorce's long, drawn-out joke, hearing the creak of saddle leather, the shuffling whisper of hooves in the snow. He rode in a fantasy, and sooner or later he'd wake up and find himself home again.

He saw again the sharp, acid-etched picture of himself holding these very horses while the men robbed the bank. He heard the smash of the shot that got Shorty, heard the roaring reply of the bandit guns as they whipped through the town like a raging tornado and then out into the snow-swept range.

Up to that moment Gene might have cleared himself of the false murder charges back home. But now he could never remove the outlaw stain. Bitter, angered, feeling he might as well truly wear the owlhoot brand since it had already been slapped on him, he had thrown in with this band. Maybe some youthful idea of adventure had remained when he heard Jack Bruhn and his gang were close at hand and he had ridden to find them.

Now he knew them for what they were . . . nothing glamorous here. Bruhn was cold and adamant, a man who demanded obedience, who thought and planned crookedly. Tex Darrow and Juarez Smith were twisted men with no sense of loyalty or decency. Pace Odium would smile as he put a bullet between your eyes. Vause and Egan were rat-faced men who reminded Gene of slinking coyotes. Shorty Ratner was not much better. Denver Gorce was the best of the lot but the outlaw strain touched him, making his humor subtly macabre, giving his philosophy a sinister twist, his remarks a distorted value.

"Hey," Denver said with surprise. Gene hastily looked around. Denver's bearded face was lifted to the sky and he had cuffed back his hat. "Feel that wind?" he demanded. "Warm . . . chinook, sure as tarantula."

Gene shrugged. "What of it?" "What of it!" Denver exclaimed, and waved his arm about. "The snow'll melt . . . mud. Roads without a bottom. We'll have to hole up somewhere."

Charley Vause spoke carelessly over his shoulder. "High time, too. One thing for it, no lawman can travel, either."

Denver chuckled. "Ain't it so! If there was a town around, we could sure licker up after all this running. How'd you like that, Gene?"

Gene forced his smile. "I could rest," he admitted. "Rest? You crazy! With all the money we got to divvy and you want to rest!"

Women Called Better At Raising Money

CHICAGO — Women are better at raising money than men, says the editor of Outdoor America, magazine of the Izaak Walton League.

Editor Grace Beach says the ladies have been so successful with white elephant sales that the men have stolen the idea.

The men used to have turkey shoots and trap shoots to raise money for their conservation programs. Now, the white elephant sales are popular.

"Card parties and feeds always bring in enough money to finance conservation education programs," Mrs. Beach said.

Women became interested in conservation programs when they started helping their husbands on conservation projects, she said.

There now are 63 chapters of the league composed wholly of women. The first women's chapter was in Fullerton, Calif. in 1937.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. (Written for NEA Service)

Almost everyone will tell about his operation if you give him half a chance. The few people in America who have not undergone surgery are in such a minority that we think they are non-existent.

Each job of bodily repair has been unique. Each experience has included suffering, fear, anticipation, hope and recovery. Not all operations have resulted in perfect health. We do not hear the tales from those whose surgery was a complete failure.

As a nation we are physically in good repair. Our health is better than was that of our ancestors. We are more comfortable and we suffer less than did our fellow Americans of two generations past.

This process of removing worn-out parts, or of repairing injured portions of the anatomy is a delicate one. It is not practiced by carpenters, nor untrained folk. It is done by those who have learned a great deal about the human body. The skills have been learned from teachers more than it has from books. Practice has perfected the procedures.

In the realm of the spirit one could go far by studying the defects of the soul and the ailments of the moral man. We could learn techniques for the relief of spiritual suffering by reading and by listening to the words of the Great Teacher.

Someday we may be as proud of our spiritual reconstruction as we are of our bodily operations.

Legion's Past Commanders Club Asks Expansion of Veterans Hospital

HERRIN, Ill. (UP)—The Egyptian Past Commanders Club of the American Legion has reiterated its request for an expansion of the U. S. Veterans Administration Hospital at Marion to 500 beds.

The action was taken Sunday at the group's 20th annual Jamboree at Herrin. William R. McCauley of Olney, department rehabilitation chairman, said the group will ask congressmen from the 23rd and 25th districts to introduce a special appropriations bill for the expansion.

In the past, the EPCC has blocked moves of the Veterans Administration to declare some of the hospital acreage as excess. In a resolution Sunday, the group protested giving up any of the hospital grounds for a National Guard armory site or federal highway. The EPCC elected Floyd McCracken of Greenville as its new commander. Chosen as vice commanders were Norman Biebel of Belleville, Tony Demijan of Centralia, Lowell Hill of Harrisburg and Charles Shoemaker of Murphysboro.

Fred Whitlock of East St. Louis was re-elected treasurer and Ray Hubbs of Herrin was re-elected executive secretary.

County Historical Society to Meet Tuesday Evening

The Saline County Historical society will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the Harrisburg public library at 7:30 p. m.

A feature of the evening's program will be a display of old-time photographs, during which time John Foster and Louis Aaron will explain and illustrate the antiquated machines on exhibit.

President Aaron and Mrs. Paul Hatfield will report on the recent meeting of the Illinois State Historical society held in October at Chicago, which Mr. and Mrs. Aaron and Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield attended. Part of the report will be devoted to the "Little Giant," Stephen A. Douglas, of pre-Civil War fame, Camp Douglas and Oakwood cemetery.

Camp Douglas, a prison camp, was located in Chicago during the Civil War and housed southern prisoners taken by the Union Army. The report also will include Chicago Historical Museum, the Prudential building, Chicago University, the statue of Miss Republic in Jackson Park and an old landmark, a home in Chicago where Lincoln visited. This home was spared during the great fire of 1871.

The social hour will be in charge of Mrs. Dick Davenport, Mrs. Pauline Purcell and Mrs. Carl Jones.

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. —The Air Force Reserve is now recruiting high school graduates, 17-18½ years of age into its "six-months trainee" program.

Young men who are accepted will spend six months on active duty with the Air Force and 7½ years in the Air Force Reserve.

Contact the Mid-America Reserve Flying Center at Scott Air Force Base for full details.

Probers Report GOP Spending Tops Democrats

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Elections subcommittee reports that Republicans have spent at least $11.4 million in the battle to capture the White House and the U. S. Senate in Tuesday's election—more than double the Democratic bill.

The report, admittedly incomplete, covered $17.6 million worth of actual and expected campaign spending. It was $11.7 million spent by GOP committees, $4.9 million by Democrats and the rest by labor unions and other special groups.

The only Republican on the committee—Sen. Carl T. Curtis (Neb)—immediately charged that the report is "full of distortions, exaggerations and is generally misleading."

The report, released Sunday night, was prepared by the staff of the subcommittee, which is headed by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn). The subcommittee received an estimate that the entire 1952 campaign—national, state and local—cost $140 million, with 60 per cent of this amount spent by Republicans and 40 per cent by Democrats.

Youth Dies of Injuries in Crash Of Stolen Plane

LITCHFIELD, Ill. (UP)—One of three youths accused of stealing a light airplane died Sunday of injuries suffered when the plane crashed. A second youth was reported in critical condition.

Richard Dillinger, 21, of Litchfield, believed to have been the pilot of the craft, died when the plane plunged into a plowed field in the pre-dawn crash.

The second youth, Clayton Morgan, 20, was not expected to live, said doctors.

Curtis Hammond, 18, also found in the wreckage, suffered a fractured leg and arm but was not reported in serious condition.

Dillinger had taken flying lessons two years ago and had one 10-minute solo flight to his credit. None of the youths had a pilot's license, however.

Dillinger recently enlisted in the Air Force and was awaiting a call to active duty.

The plane was reported missing about four hours before it was found wrecked in the field.

To Begin Flushing Water Mains

Work of flushing out the water mains in Harrisburg will start about 4 p. m. today Amos Doorn, water superintendent, has announced.

While the mains are being flushed the city water will have a brownish color, especially in that part of the city where the flushing operations are being completed.

This afternoon work of flushing the mains started at the water plant and continued west.

It will take about all week to complete the job as there are more than 250 plugs to be opened and flushed.

Saline Baptist Mission Board to Meet Tuesday

The Saline Baptist Mission Board will meet at the First Baptist church in Harrisburg Tuesday at 7 p. m.

New officers will be elected and plans will be made for the coming year.

There are over 8,000 Southern Baptists in the Association composed of 33 churches.

Bulganin Asks Joint Soviet-U. S. Task Force

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin proposed today a joint Soviet-American air and naval task force backed by the United Nations as "a sure guarantee" to stop the fighting in the Middle East.

The proposal was contained in a message to President Eisenhower in which Bulganin warned that the fighting in Egypt could turn into a third world war.

He told Mr. Eisenhower that "I expect a positive reply from you."

He said the Soviet government felt "effective action in the interests of peace can be taken within the next hours."

The Soviet premier said the proposed Soviet-American task force "would not threaten the interests of Britain and France." He said the "popular masses" in both countries wanted peace.

"If this war is not stopped, it contains the danger of turning into a third world war," he said.

If the United States and the Soviet Union "support the victims of aggression," he said, the authority of the United Nations "will be considerably enhanced."

Along with Bulganin's message to Mr. Eisenhower, Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov addressed a message to the president of the United Nations Security Council. Shepilov urged the U. N. to give military and other aid to victims of aggression and said Russia was ready to send air and naval forces to Egypt.

In his proposal to Mr. Eisenhower, Bulganin suggested "immediate" talks between Washington and Moscow to "stop aggression."

Tuberculosis Care Laws Up for Vote Tomorrow

Several local unions, organizations, school and churches announced their support of the "Tuberculosis Care and Treatment" Law and the Excess Tax Law.

The two laws will be voted on Tuesday, Nov. 6. Tuberculosis has been and still is one of our country's leading public health problems.

The two laws will not add any new taxes, but will continue to fight tuberculosis in the county and insure the means by which residents who are afflicted with the disease may secure adequate hospital and nursing care.

Several patients in the county state that if it were not for these laws, their families could not have possibly afforded the costly treatment and drugs which were necessary to treat the disease.

"I owe my life and my family's protection and happiness to the fact that these two laws were in effect in Saline county," one patient says.

They have been in effect in the county for several years and it is now necessary to put them to a re-vote. The voters will be asked to cast their votes on two different ballots. One is on the "Care and treatment" of tuberculosis which allows counties without tuberculosis sanitariums to levy up to 7 1-2c per one hundred dollars evaluation.

This ballot must be voted either "YES or NO." The other ballot that must be voted is the "Excess Tax Law" which allows the county board to levy the TB tax in excess of the statutory limit. Since the county is already levying the statutory limit for general county purposes, it must have this 7 1-2c Excess Tax for tuberculosis patients, the Saline County Tuberculosis Board states.

Saline county rates as one of the highest in the state for tuberculosis but the county has made excellent strides against this enemy of mankind.

"Continue the TB tax as we have had for several years with no raise in taxes, the TB board asks.

Arrested on Complaint of Arson
William Malone of Harco has been released under $2,000 to await the action of the grand jury following his arrest on a complaint charging him with arson.

Malone is charged with burning a barn belonging to Robert Bride-well on Oct. 24.

14 Traffic Fatalities
By United Press
At least 14 persons died during the weekend in Illinois in traffic accidents. Fog was a major factor in several of the accidents.

Included in the 'il was Robert E. Hamilton, 17, Flora, who suffered fatal injuries in a two-car collision north of Flora Saturday.

Eisenhower Asks Bulganin to Withdraw Troops

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has called on Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin in a personal message to withdraw Russian troops from war-torn Hungary. He asked Bulganin to let the Hungarians choose their own government.

Mr. Eisenhower sent the urgent cable to the Soviet Premier Sunday after conferring at the White House with Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The meeting also presumably dealt with the Middle East crisis.

The text of the President's message to Bulganin will not be made public until the United States and Russia reach agreement on publicizing its contents.

Abandon Efforts To Rescue 25 Still Trapped in Mine

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (UP)—Efforts to rescue 25 men still trapped in the fire-scarred Springhill coal mine were abandoned today and the mine ordered sealed off to prevent another coal gas explosion.

Little hope had been held for the 25 missing men after more than four days in the gas and smoke filled mine. Their deaths brought the toll of dead to 38.

Fire still was burning in the mine and officials feared an explosion. A spokesman said the decision to close the mine had been made to "protect the town of Springhill."

Thirteen persons died in the pit-head explosion last Thursday evening and 118 were trapped. Rescuers got 88 out alive. Five of the trapped men were reported dead. In addition 5 workers were killed at the pithead in the explosion and 2 rescue workers died of gas poisoning.

One miner who was rescued died, bringing the total dead to 13 until the addition of the 25 whose fate was sealed today.

Fined for Illegal Sale of Liquor
Oral Stanley pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal sale of alcoholic liquor following a raid late yesterday in East Harrisburg.

Making the raid were Chief of Police Ross Lane, Sheriff William T. Barrett, Deputy Sheriff Everett N. Sneed and Patrolman Pat Atkinson. They reported about 10 persons in the place when raided.

Arraigned before Police Magistrate Vern Joyner Jr., Stanley was fined $100 and costs.

Cardinal Returns To Polish Pulpit

WARSAW (UP)—Poland's vast Roman Catholic population rejoiced today at their first message from Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski in three years, but joy was tempered by somber warnings from the nation's new government.

Cardinal Wyszynski returned from prison to his pulpit Sunday and told his flock in a 45-minute sermon that "Poland needs heroic work more than heroic death."

A short time later, Wladyslaw Gomulka, chief of Poland's new-look Communist Party, broadcast an appeal to the public to remain calm "less Poland finds herself in a situation similar to the one that has arisen in Hungary."

Mounting uneasiness among the population was evident as unconfirmed rumors circulated in Warsaw of alleged Russian troop movements along Poland's eastern border.

Cardinal Wyszynski's sermon was his first since Poland's new "Titoist" Communist government released him last week after three years in prison ordered by the old Stalinist regime. A rejoicing congregation packed the St. Cross Church to overflowing.

Youth Drowns At Carbondale
CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—A 17-year-old Pomona youth, Donald Kunst, drowned Sunday at the Carbondale city reservoir in a duck hunting accident.

Kunst's companion, Donald Rowden, 16, of near Murphysboro, said the youth's boat capsized. Rowden told authorities he attempted to rescue Kunst, who could not swim, but failed.

Kunst's body was recovered in about 12 feet of water.

S. H. Skelton, 85, Retired Farmer, Dies Near Eldorado
Samuel H. Skelton, 85, retired Saline county farmer who made his home with his son, Cecil, northeast of Eldorado, died there Sunday at 3 p. m. He had been bedfast for the past year.

He leaves his wife, Nora; one daughter, Mrs. Orval (Addie) Heck, and one son, Cecil; one sister, Mrs. Nannie Lasseter; one brother, Charley Skelton; one grandson Gene Heck; also a great-granddaughter, Loujean Heck, all of Eldorado.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Bean and Tanner funeral home where the body lies in state. Rev. Eula B. Sanders will conduct the service and interment will be in Lindale Memorial Gardens.

Predict Fair Voting Weather

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's voters can expect generally fair weather when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

The Weather Bureau said Sunday the "main departure" will be showers in the region from the Dakotas to Texas, snow flurries over the Rockies and considerable cloudiness and fog in the Great Lakes region. Some cloudiness also was predicted in the southeast and northwest corners of the nation.

"Most of California and the Southwest as well as the Ohio Valley, mid and north Atlantic states will have fair, dry weather," the bureau predicted.

William W. Locke Named to Pacific Northwest Post
William W. Locke, formerly of Harrisburg, this week was named supervisor of the Pacific Northwest land and tax department of Crown Zellerbach Corporation. Mr. Locke's headquarters are in Portland, Ore.

He is the son of Mrs. W. C. Locke, a teacher in the Harrisburg schools. A graduate of the University of Illinois and the University of Virginia law school, Mr. Locke is a member of the Oregon and Multnomah County Bar associations.

It Has Been a Most Pleasant Experience
I have indeed enjoyed campaigning throughout Saline County and want to express my sincere thanks to everyone for their kindness and courtesy. And to my opponent, Elmer Gibbons, I appreciate the gentlemanly manner in which you have conducted your campaign.

Yes, it has been a real pleasure campaigning among the many fine people of Saline County.

Bowl-Minded Teams Face Decisive Tilts This Week; Minnesota Faces Iowa

By United Press
The college football season, which has produced its usual quota of thrills this year, begins and ends for at least eight bowl-minded teams next Saturday.

The biggest week end of the 1956 campaign will feature a climactic meeting of the unbeaten between Georgia Tech and Tennessee at Atlanta with a Sugar Bowl bid almost certain to go to the winner.

Other star attractions include Texas A&M vs. Southern Methodist at Dallas, Minnesota vs. Iowa at Minneapolis, and Oregon State vs. Stanford at Palo Alto, Calif.

Both Georgia Tech and Tennessee have won six straight games this season and rank right behind Oklahoma in the national rankings.

The twin terrors of the South have played two mutual opponents. Tennessee beat Duke, 33-20, and clobbered Auburn, 35-7, while Tech downed Auburn, 28-7, and needed a last quarter touchdown by full-back Dickie Mattison to edge Duke, 7-0, last Saturday.

Two Bowl Prospects

Georgia Tech, incidentally, reportedly is leaning towards accepting a Cotton Bowl bid—if one is extended—so even if Tennessee loses to the Engineers, the Vols conceivably could still wind up in the Sugar Bowl.

Texas A&M and Southern Methodist both are unbeaten in the Southwest Conference, which annually provides the host team for the Cotton Bowl, so their meeting next week end should be a dilly.

In the Big Ten Conference, Ohio State (3-0) ranks as the only unbeaten team but is ineligible for the Rose Bowl junket, so Minnesota (3-0) can remain on the road to Pasadena by beating Iowa (3-1).

The same situation exists in the Pacific Coast Conference, where UCLA (4-1) has moved into a tie with Oregon State for the lead. The Uclans also are barred from the Rose Bowl, but Oregon State will be tough to stop if it gets by Stanford (3-1).

Iowa was the only major team to fall from the perfect record ranks during the past week end. Michigan, rebounding from its loss to Minnesota, scrambled to a 17-14 triumph over the Hawkeyes on a touchdown by Mike Shatasky with 70 seconds remaining.

Oklahoma wiped out a 19-6 half-time deficit to defeat Colorado, 27-19, behind its touchdown twins, Tommy McDonald and Clendon Thomas. It was the Sooners' 36th straight victory and one of their toughest. Coach Bud Wilkinson freely admitted that "Colorado is the best team we've played this season."

Vols Warm Up

Tennessee warmed up for Georgia Tech by whipping North Carolina, 20-0, while in other games involving top-ranked teams, Michigan State walloped Wisconsin, 33-0; Texas A&M breezed to a 27-0 triumph over Arkansas; Ohio State edged Northwestern, 6-2, on a last minute touchdown pass from Frank Ellwood to Leo Brown, and Dick Borstad's field goal gave Minnesota a 9-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

Illinois' fleet halfback Abe Woodson gained only 65 yards against Purdue Saturday in a game that ended in a 7-7 tie. Ray Nitschke scored for the Illini and Len Dawson passed 9 yards for the Boiler-makers' touchdown.

NEW TYPE SWIMMING SHOW NOV. 8-10

CARBONDALE, Ill.—"Mr. Dolphin Presents," a new type of variety swimming show, will be presented at the Southern Illinois University swimming pool Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 8-10.

Featured in the show are the SIU swimming team, comedy diving routines, the SIU Aquettes, entertainer Pat Cook of Ottawa, the SIU gymnastics team, and two expert divers Roger Council Wood River, and Bruce Coleman, West Frankfort.

As an additional highlight to the first annual show 32 Southern coaches have entered the race for the 1956 Dolphin Queen, to be selected by the audience during the five performances.

Directing the show is Al Cline, Springfield, while Bill Heusner, SIU swimming coach, is faculty adviser. "The type of show we have planned," Cline said, "will give entertainment to all ages. It's packed with variety."

A single show at 8 p. m. will be presented Nov. 8 with two shows at 7 and 8:45 p. m. set for Nov. 9 and 10. Admission will be 75 cents to all. Tickets are on sale at the SIU gym (phone ext. 237) or may be bought from members of swimming team.

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois University's Junior Varsity football team, 1-3 for the season, will conclude its schedule with a home game against Washington University's Jayvees Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 2:30 p. m.

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The drive to send Southern Illinois University track coach Leland P. (Doc) Lingle to the Olympics has reached the $1,640 mark—only $80 away from the final goal of $1,700.

The collection will end Nov. 10. Contributions may be sent to SIU Alumni Service.

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Tennis fans in the Southern Illinois area have been invited to attend a special meeting on the SIU campus Saturday, Nov. 10.

Chief purpose of the session will be to explore the possibilities of forming a Southern Illinois Tennis Association.

Heading the meeting will be John R. Le Fevre, who pointed out that Southern Illinois is one of the few areas in the country not directly associated with the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association. An area organization, he pointed out, could not only promote Southern Illinois tennis tournaments and clinics, but would make it easier for the better players to enter national meets.

The latest Davis Cup films will be shown at the meeting, which will begin at 7 p. m. Those interested in attending should write to John R. Le Fevre in care of the SIU Athletic Department.

Cardinals, Giants To Meet for Eastern Title

By United Press

The Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, keeping wary eyes on a Cleveland Brown team that's beginning to look like its old familiar self, will play for the National Football League's Eastern Division leadership next Sunday.

The Cardinals and Giants set up a Yankee Stadium "natural" by winning Sunday to hit the halfway mark in their campaigns with identical 5-1 records. The Cardinals whipped the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-17, on Lamar McHan's four touchdown passes and the Giants edged a crippled but stubborn Pittsburgh Steeler team 17-14, on Ben Agajanian's 32-yard field goal.

The Detroit Lions used a stout defense and two touchdown lunges by 250-pound Leon Hart to stretch the league's only perfect record to 6-0 by downing the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 17-13. The Chicago Bears (5-1) remained a game behind Detroit in the Western race by outscoring the Los Angeles Rams, 35-24, as 178-pound Perry Jeter zipped for two second half touchdowns.

Three Share Cellar

But the Cardinals and Giants were more interested in the showing made by the Browns, who snapped a three-game losing streak by whipping the Green Bay Packers, 24-7.

The Browns (2-4) share the Eastern cellar with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and need a supermiracle to battle back into contention for the title they've held since 1950.

But Cleveland showed some of its old-time prowess while holding Green Bay, which had scored 101 points in its last three starts, to seven. So the Cards and Giants, each with a game remaining against the Browns, will be eager to see how Coach Paul Brown's team performs against the Baltimore Colts next Sunday at Cleveland. The Colts and Washington Redskins were idle this weekend.

Lyons Wins Cross Country Title

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Lyons Township High School, La Grange, Saturday won for the second straight year the state championship cross country run at the Urbana Country Club here.

It was the 11th annual running of the Illinois High School Assn. event. Bryan White, East Rockford, won first place among individual runners in the 1.9 mile course.

Lyons took the top honors with a low point score of 102. White's time for the run was 9:31.8.

Twenty schools had qualified to enter teams in the cross country run, but one, Crane Tech, Chicago, did not participate. One or more runners from 23 other schools also qualified for the event.

Ranking behind Lyons in the first 10 low point order were Rock Falls, 113; Chicago Englewood, 151; Maywood Proviso, 156; Alton, 171; East Rockford, 197; Edwardsville and Downers Grove, tie each with 205; Peoria Woodruff, 242, and Moline, 252.

The first 10 individual runners were White; Bill Gillingham, Peoria Woodruff; Dave Larson, Downers Grove; Ron Vonesh, Leiden; Bill Hillon, Mazon; Bill Woledge, Lyons; Charles Gaeser, Atton; Ron Dunbar, Alton; Don Thomas, Carlinville, and Leonard Williamson, Englewood.

Olympic Five

Beats Oilers, 85-61

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—The United States Olympic basketball team, paced by centers Bill Russell and Chuck Darling, rolled over the Phillips Oilers Sunday, 85-61.

The win was the seventh for the Olympic team in its 10-game exhibition tour with the Oilers.

Russell of San Francisco scored 20 points on 10 field goals including three of his famous "dunk" shots.

Darling of Iowa, who alternated with Russell in the pivot, collected 15 points. Burt Halderson, a hometown product from Austin, also netted 15.

Sophomore, 6-8, Is Key Man in Ridgway Cage Plans; Open Season at Grayville

The Ridgway Eagles, coached by HTHS and SIU graduate Bob Dallas, open the 1956-57 basketball season Tuesday night at Grayville.

Key man in Ridgway's plans is a big sophomore, 6-8 Roger Suttner. If Suttner comes through as Dallas and the Ridgway players hope, then the season could be a great success. If he doesn't, then prospects are not so good.

And it's quite a load for a second year player, but the big guy is willing to accept the responsibility and has shown a lot of improvement with each practice session.

The Ridgway squad will include three seniors, five juniors and three sophomores.

The squad: Seniors—Pat Lawler 6-0 and captain, Don Ballard 5-8, Joe Ramsey 6-0;

Juniors — Dave Drone 5-10, James Ambrous 5-11, Earnie Clifford 6-0, Jim Zircelbach 6-0, Tom Jones 5-11;

Sophomores—Roger Suttner 6-8, Bob Roark 5-10, John Schmidt 5-11, Lawler, Ballard, Ambrous, Clifford and Jones lettered last season.

The following is the schedule: Nov. 6—Grayville T. Nov. 13—Shawneetown T. Nov. 16—Pope County H. Nov. 20—Thompsonville H. Nov. 30—Crossville T. Dec. 4—Enfield H. Dec. 7—Rosiclare T. Dec. 8—Eldorado H. Dec. 11—Galatia H. Dec. 14—Equality T. Dec. 18-19—Equality Invitation-Tourney.

Dec. 21—Cave-in-Rock H. Jan. 8—Shawneetown H. Jan. 11—Galatia T. Jan. 15-18—Greater Egyptian Conference tourney at Rosiclare.

Jan. 22—Thompsonville T. Feb. 1—Rosiclare H. Feb. 5—Norris City H. Feb. 8—Equality H. Feb. 12—Cave-in-Rock T. Feb. 19—Mills Prairie T. Feb. 22—Pope County T. *Conference games.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Displaying a power-packed single-wing formation, the Washington University Bears pounded Southern Illinois University, 26-0, before more than 5,000 fans here Saturday afternoon.

Striking once in the first quarter and twice more in the second period, the outcome of the televised game was never in doubt. It was the seventh straight time the Bears have won out over SIU.

In statistics, the Salukis didn't fare too badly, outgaining the Bears in passing, 64 yards to 53, while Washington led in rushing, 149-76. A lost fumble and three intercepted passes led to Southern's downfall as the Bears took advantage of SIU's mistakes.

Southern moved inside Washington's 15-yard stripe twice in the second period, once advancing to the eight before losing the ball on an intercepted pass in the end zone.

SIU played without the services of its ace halfback, Carver Shannon, Corinth, Miss., who is out with a separated shoulder. Southern's outstanding runner of the day was substitute Paul Restivo of Hermin, who gained 36 yards in five carries. Late in the game Restivo received a possible concussion and was taken to Barnes hospital for observation. SIU's longest run was a 68-yard punt return by Dave Miles of Maplewood, Mo., who was finally nailed on the 20.

Southern, now 3-4 for the season, meets Illinois Normal at Carbondale Saturday afternoon in SIU's final home game. Game time is 1:30.

Hawks Defeat Syracuse, 78-76

By United Press

Willie (The Whale) Naulls of the St. Louis Hawks is making quite a splash in the National Basketball Association.

The ponderous rookie from UCLA scored 14 of his 17 points in the second period to lead the Hawks to a 78-76 victory over the previously-unbeaten Syracuse Nationals Sunday night at Syracuse.

St. Louis was trailing 21-11 when Naulls took charge and carried the Hawks to a 36-34 halftime lead. Teammate Bob Pettit then scored 13 points in the third period, but Syracuse closed the gap in the final minutes and just missed sending the game into overtime when Joe Holup missed a lay-up in the final seconds.

The Minneapolis Lakers edged Rochester, 88-87, on a last-second free throw by Charlie Mencil, and the New York Knickerbockers rallied for a 96-83 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons. Ken Sears paced the Knicks with 17 points, two more than teammate Dick McGuire.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: Some Advice to The Lovelorn

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

For a long time it has been customary for young folks to fall in love, become engaged, and get married. Despite the many casualties that have occurred along the matrimonial highway, the practice remains popular; in fact, its popularity seems to increase.

Last year, according to a magazine article at hand, there were approximately one and a half million marriages in the United States. During the same interval, however, some 400,000 couples were unmarried, that is, divorced. Though the net gain was great, the divorce rate was staggering, there being about 27 divorces for each hundred marriages.

This high casualty rate came about despite the well-intentioned services of marriage counselors, social workers, ministers, friendly judges, writers of "advice to the lovelorn" columns, and a host of others that might be grouped under the general classification of "do-gooders." Observing the failure of so many to achieve the domestic happiness desired, it was decided to look about for some untapped source of guidance.

Wisdom in Folklore
A neglected stockpile of purported wisdom soon was found in the mass of half-forgotten folklore once in common circulation in southern Illinois and relating to love, courtship and marriage. In fact it was then in general circulation everywhere.

The amount of lore clustering about love, courtship and marriage is voluminous. As this is written, 832 signs and sayings already have been found. There may be as many more. Even if not so helpful as they might be, this new stockpile should provide materials to somewhat relieve the monotony of the usual stock answers. It is not possible here to classify and organize the signs and sayings that have come to attention. The best that can be done is to offer spot samplings. First, it should be known that these gems of wisdom are generally offered for the guidance of girls. Obviously, the boy always has been deemed the more fortunate one, no matter what the fates dealt out to him. After all, he was considered the hunted.

It might be well to use a few of the many available bits of guidance in a logical way. For instance, if a girl is definitely marked to be an old maid, she could recognize that fact early, reconcile herself to the fate awaiting her, and cease worrying. Such action would also prevent her complicating the situation for other girls with a kinder fate in store.

Signs of Spinsterhood
Here are some signs of approaching spinsterhood which every young woman should know: The aspiring young lass must not scorch the clothes being ironed. If setting the table, she must be careful not to place two forks at the same plate. This fork dictum evidently originated before the advent of salad, pickle, oyster, olive and other forks now available. Should the young lady decide to make coffee, she must not look into the boiling pot. When the time comes to drink coffee, she must not curl her little finger while holding the cup; nor must she sit on her foot; neither must she "dunk" her bread or cake. If she drops and breaks a cup, her fate is definitely sealed. Girls hoping to marry must not develop a fondness for cats. If they bake bread, and they often did years ago, they must not let it burn. At meals they must not take the last piece of bread or cake. Some held that taking the next to last biscuit (see dictionary) would blight matrimonial prospects. With these and about 50 other warning signs, it was indeed a rugged course that awaited the ambitious girl.

On the other hand there were some good signs. If a bird flew into the house and the young lady of the house saw it first, she would marry before the year's end. Feeding a cat from an old shoe helped along toward marriage. If a cat, for which the aspiring maiden must form no liking, washed its face and immediately after looked at her, all would be well. There were other good signs to cheer the maid along, not so many good as bad, however.

Choice is Hers

In those cases where signs had not definitely assigned spinsterhood as her lot, the question of "just who" naturally arose. Could she pick and choose or should she be satisfied with less than her choice? Willing to meet requirements, the choice was hers. If she could, with thumbs and fingers alone, split an apple into halves, no man could escape her grasp. Lacking the physical strength indicated, a weaker girl could eat a four-leaf clover and acquire the coveted power. If clover were out of season, she could walk, unassisted, seven lengths of railroad irons without stepping off. If neither railroad irons or four-leaf clovers were at hand, she could eat the raw

Ice Hockey Games At Evansville Nov. 7-8

Professional ice hockey will be introduced to the Tri-State, on a league basis, Nov. 7 and 8, when the Ft. Wayne Komets and Huntington Hornets meet on the Evansville Municipal Stadium ice.

Game time will be 8:30 p. m. on both dates and each game will be a bona fide, sanctioned league game to be included in the International Hockey league standings.

The hockey games are the first ice hockey games to be played in this area as Evansville's new Municipal Stadium is the only building in this area equipped with artificial ice facilities.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Daryl King, Eddyville, a boy named Daryl Eugene, weighing seven pounds, seven ounces, born Nov. 4 at the Harrisburg hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Baker have received word of the birth of a grandson to Lt. and Mrs. Russell M. Bower, Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 1. The baby weighed seven pounds, four ounces, and has been named Russell Milton Jr. Mrs. Bower is the former Susie Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill have received word of the birth of a baby son born today at Tampa Municipal hospital, Tampa, Fla., to Mr. and Mrs. John Singleton. The baby, weighing eight pounds, six and a half ounces, has been named James Douglas. This is their fourth son. Mrs. Singleton is the former Joyce Hill.

For those with squeamish appetites, a milder remedy could be employed. A feather from the tail of a rooster could be secreted in the glove of her hand-shank hand. If she could then contrive to shake the hand of the desired one, he became her pawn. There were other ways.

These are only a few samplings of the bountiful lore related to love, courtship and marriage. There were signs and sayings to guide at every turn. Perhaps the wisdom embodied in these bits of old lore could provide new thoughts for those who would advise. At least they are different. "A Message Of Importance To The Voters Of Saline County"

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car—it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Sometimes a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive—a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dream-book: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushioning action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power-Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!
